

Emily Martelli Promoted in CNB's Wealth Management Division

Teresa Thornhill, CNB's Chief Wealth Management Officer, is pleased to announce that Emily Martelli has been promoted to the position of Senior Trust Administrator in CNB's Wealth Management Division.

With a wide range of legal experience, especially in the areas of estate planning, asset protection, special needs planning, business succession, and trust matters, Emily has been a strong asset to the department since joining the Bank in December 2015.

Her credentials include a bachelor's degree in finance from the University of Washington, a master's in conflict analysis and resolution from Nova Southeastern University, a doctorate in law from Florida A&M University, and an LL.M. in taxation from Boston University School of Law. In addition, she is licensed to practice law in both Florida and the District of Columbia.

She and her husband, Dr. Matthew Martelli, are the proud parents of one daughter, Isabella Dunn Martelli, who will be turning one year old on September 7th of this year.

Congratulations, Emily, on this well-deserved promotion!
